DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group IV, claims 14-16 in the reply filed on May 23, 2007 is acknowledged. It is further noted that if allowable subject matter is identified in the Group IV claims, the claims of Group VI (claims 20-26) will be subject to rejoinder.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP 2001-283861. In [0055] of the machine translation, the reference teaches a positive electrode comprising LiCoO_2 particles in an amount of 86 weight parts and BaTiO_3 particles in an amount of 5 weight parts. In [0062], the reference teaches that TiO_2 may be used instead of BaTiO_3 . In [0074] it is also taught that alumina may be used.

Thus, the instant claims are anticipated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2001-283861 in view of JP 63-121250.

JP '861 is applied for the reasons stated above. Further, in the disclosed example, the mass of the titanium dioxide is 5.8% of the mass of the lithium cobalt oxide. However, the reference does not expressly teach that this range is 0.5% to 4%, as recited in claim 16.

According to the International Search Report, JP '250 teaches a positive electrode comprising particles of MnO₂ and TiO₂. The titanium dioxide is present in an amount of 3 to 10 mol% (2.8-9.0 wt%) of the manganese dioxide.

Therefore, the invention as a whole would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because the artisan would be motivated to use an amount of titanium dioxide in the electrode of JP '861 falling within the range disclosed by JP '250. As disclosed in the abstract, the purpose of the invention of JP '250 is "to easily eliminate a high potential part at initial discharging time by adding an oxide." Accordingly, the artisan would be motivated to use an amount of titanium dioxide in the electrode of JP '861 falling within the range disclosed by JP '250, thereby rendering the claimed range obvious.
